Ghost stories are just made-up tales. Things like this could never happen in real life. Or so you might think. Beware.

The number of human-faced apples seen by the family and TV reporters was terrifyingly the same as those who had died in the train collision...49...Each face resembled one of the deceased. However, when people rushed to the scene after hearing about it, all they saw were ordinary, rotten apples that had fallen to the ground.

What did the family and reporters see?!

It remains a mystery to this day...
